

Note on File Construction & Native Files:

I am fully willing to walk your team through my native files (Figma, InDesign, Illustrator) to demonstrate how I structure layers, components, and master templates. While strict NDA and company policies prevent me from directly transferring or sending the raw source files, I am more than happy to open them and deconstruct my workflow live via screen-share during our interview discussions.